FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 18[illegible]

Simon Cameron

In regard to the Congressional Committee of investigation, he said that he had reason to believe that the original intention of its appointment was to control the War Department. The second or third day after the announcement of the Committee its Chairman called upon him and desired authority to furnish a certain regiment with arms, munitions, clothing, &c. He refused the application for he did not believe the applicant worthy of trust. After further colloquy with him, Mr Cameron ordered him out of the Department, and of course he was attacked by that Committee. Mr. C claims that he [illegible] additional contract for one hundred thousand arms, on the ground that a sufficient number had been obtained, with those that would be made, for the use of the Government troops, and yet the Committee blamed him with having bought a greater number of arms than were needed. Mr Cameron went on to say:

I did order a large number of arms, but I will take this occasion to answer the charge. It must be borne in mind that I was supplying an army of more than 700,000 men, and that the loss of arms in a single campaign has been estimated by military men to reach as high as fifty per cent. In a glance at the statistics I find that in round numbers I ordered nearly a million of muskets, almost a thousand carbines and perhaps as many swords. When I took possession of the War Department I found that there were but few muskets in the arsenals, no swords of any account and scarcely any munitions of war. Within a short time after the proclamation it became apparent that there was no difficulty in getting troops, but there was great difficulty in procuring arms. I found the Ordnance Department without a head, the person having charge being an old man, who was conceded by those in whom I had confidence, including General Scott, to be incompetent for the duties of the position. I superseded him and put in his place one who was believed to be fully competent, but who soon proved, in the opinion of my associates, to be unequal to the crisis. I felt, personally, reluctant to enter into any contract myself as I had no time for such details, and therefore directed Mr. Thomas A. Scott, my assistant, to act in conjunction with Col Ripley, and that he should see that every contract was so guarded that, in case of failure at the end of thirty days, the contract should be revoked, leaving to Col. Ripley to determine the quality and price of the arms to be contracted for.

Mr Cameron, in reply to the charge that he had made these contracts with an eye to personal preferences, says that he simply provided that contracts should be made, leaving prices to be settled by the Ordnance Department, and to that day scarcely knew any of the individuals with whom contracts were made. Reference had been made to contracts with Herman, Boker & Co., for one hundred thousand guns. At that time there were large numbers of troops in the field unarmed. With those arms the late glorious victories in the West were achieved. The obtaining of those arms was a work of difficulty and [illegible]. Upon the Secretary's letter ordering them purchased was this indorsement:

"I approve the carrying this through carefully, cautiously and expeditiously. Avoid conflicts and interference. A. LINCOLN."

The literal meaning of that indorsement was, that the world should not know of our military deficiency and weakness until the evil had been remedied, and that caution should be used, as before, in keeping inviolate the secret of our defeat.

Mr Cameron continues, in his Harrisburg address—"When we expected the arrival of soldiers from Pennsylvania and there were [illegible] and there was nothing to feed them on, the Acting Commissary General [illegible] and said, 'I can now buy two thousand [illegible] if I pay two or three cents a pound more than they should be worth.' 'Well,' [illegible] 'pay it'—(applause)—[illegible] pound rather than [illegible] but be guarded that you [illegible] when a supply can be had at the ordinary price"—which was done. [illegible] tract for two thousand [illegible] the whole world rung with the [illegible] that the Secretary of War had [illegible] ment in order to enrich some [illegible] yet the contract was made with [illegible] enemies."

"Again I was censured [illegible] the battle of Bull Run [illegible] cavalry in the field [illegible] in my own defence [illegible] ornament [illegible] horseman offered [illegible] no pistols, swords [illegible] and I did not want the [illegible] such was our condition [illegible] raise an army [illegible] shortest possible time and [illegible] with whatever needful [illegible] lay hands upon. As soon as I [illegible] tain pistols, carbines, swords and holsters. I had cavalry enough. But then the cry was he has got too many—he is cheating the government for the benefit of his friends. Had the material resources of the government [illegible] commensurate with the exigency the war would have been terminated ere this. So far as concerns myself [illegible] have [illegible] a million of guns [illegible] single soldier in [illegible] this should have been started [illegible] for the want of a weapon."

Mr Cameron said he supposed if he had permitted himself to be used by the parties who sought to make their fortunes out of the government he would have been popular with them. He would give many instances to illustrate the truth of this remark. There was a man by the name of Dawes, a Massachusetts attorney, who was his enemy. This man was the agent of a Boston company who owned most of the stock in the Wilmington and Baltimore railroad. Dawes was agent for [illegible] wanted a monopoly of the government business. Mr C said:

When the bridges on the Wilmington and Baltimore road were burned it became absolutely necessary to construct a new line of travel to Washington. By my direction the President of the Pennsylvania railroad, Mr Thompson, in connection with the Wilmington [illegible] made arrangements to run a line of boats from Perryville to Annapolis, and succeeded in getting the project into successful operation. This new route was used until the Baltimore and Ohio road was taken possession of by me for the government, and until the bridges of the Wilmington road were rebuilt. In the meantime an arrangement was made with the Harrisburg, Reading and New Jersey roads to reduce the fare from six to four dollars from New York to Baltimore per soldier. But my action in this matter took money out of the purses of gentlemen in Boston, and Mr Dawes, who appears to represent the interests affected, became my enemy. This is the only reason for his opposition of which I am aware. I don't know him further than that he was frequently hanging about the War Department in common with other applicants for special favors.

Mr Cameron closed his remarks, as follows:

This theme is an unpleasant one. It is unnecessary for me to speak to my townsmen of my honesty of purpose. You know me and I am willing to abide your decision. I leave you with great reluctance. It has been the dream of my life to go abroad in some position that would enable me to catch a proper glimpse of the beauty and grandeur of the Old World, but as the time draws near when I shall bid you a parting adieu, I approach it with pain caused by the separation from old and dear friends. Perhaps I have said enough—it may be too much. I desire to state to you however that my relations with the President have been and still are of the most cordial character. I entertain as great a regard for him as for any one with whom I have ever been associated. He is an honest, high-minded gentleman, as well as a faithful public officer. This rebellion will be ended after a while, and with it we will end the cause of this and all future internal strife, as I hope. I have never been an abolitionist. I am not one now. But if I had the power I would call into the field every man able to shoulder a musket, whether he be white or black, that this war may be brought to a speedy and certain close. And I believe we will come that I do not believe that after a while, when the hot Southern climate is killing our soldiers who are fighting for the government, our people will be content to see their sons and brothers die when men acclimated to the South are able to defend the country, and of their own strength and will to drive all the rebels out of the land. There cannot be a doubt about how this slavery question is to be settled in the end; but so far as I am concerned, I am willing to leave its disposal to the Great Ruler above. I would not punish the deluded rank and file after they have laid down their arms; I would not harm one hair on the head of a single individual who was enticed or seduced upon misrepresentation to join the rebel army; but I would do the leaders I would do with them as I said I would do with the Mayor of Baltimore after he asked the President to send back the unarmed troops from Cockeysville, and not allow them to pass through Baltimore. I said, let me alone and I will hang him and his whole posse up on the trees around the War Department. Had I been allowed to do so our troops would never have been impeded in their march through that city, and by such a [illegible] the rebellion would now have been [illegible]. Such are my opinions on that question, which perhaps I sometimes express unwisely for my own good, and this is another reason for the passage of the resolution to which I alluded. Every border State representative who thinks his brother or son or kinsman in the rebel ranks does not deserve hanging for his treason, voted in favor of that resolution."

Much has been said against the official conduct of Mr Cameron, especially by the secession prints. It is fair to give him an opportunity to sustain himself. The attacks made upon him were probably made to embarrass the Government. Mr Cameron having left the Cabinet it was right that he should reply to the charges which had been made upon his integrity. Before he left the Cabinet he quietly submitted to all that was said against him. His [illegible] proves the truth of the couplet:

[illegible]
[illegible]

From Lower River.—The following letter from Auburn, Powder River, is written to [illegible] Carter, [illegible] of this city. By his [illegible] the dust sent down is coarse, and [illegible] weighed $21.

Auburn, June 8th, 1862

[illegible] I take this opportunity to inform you that [illegible] are paying well. I have sent you [illegible] express two hundred dollars in dust. I [illegible] but five hundred dollars last week and [illegible] as well as any man in the mines. [illegible] selling at a fair price. Bacon [illegible] flour $40 per hundred [illegible] I think I will make my tale in five or [illegible]. We have two express's running [illegible] at present. Send me a weekly paper and write soon. I must close, for the express leaves immediately.

Yours with respect, G W Carter

New Acts.—We [illegible] the [illegible] last evening, which contained [illegible] to [illegible] every much reduced [illegible] [illegible] sending them to [illegible] and [illegible] fails to make [illegible] however, which [illegible] of the paper the [illegible] was not from [illegible] but if [illegible] we will [illegible] fully designate the [illegible] secession [illegible] in this State [illegible] the Democrats must have originated from a similar cause. [illegible] What we shall extend [illegible] strictly adhere to the Democratic party, yet in our [illegible] the future we design [illegible] to [illegible] keeping [illegible] party [illegible] application [illegible] This we suppose means that he [illegible] still though experience has taught him that it is better to exercise [illegible] prudence at least in the manner of promulgating the [illegible] hereafter. We do not however, that he is [illegible] the sentiment of which [illegible] his profession of [illegible] in keeping all party [illegible] Taking all in all or [illegible] that the [illegible] has already [illegible] change for the better in the appearance or complexion of the Advertiser. It bears the same [illegible] marks slightly lopped [illegible] which will in all probability grow out again just in proportion as it [illegible] nourishment from its secession patrons.

Quickly Made.—We [illegible] with a couple of gentlemen [illegible] Salmon river [illegible] who state that they left New York city on the first of March last, came by way of San Francisco, went up to Florence City, took each a claim, one mounted with in eight feet of snow, washed out the principal portion of their claims, selling the remainder, and are now thus far on their way back home, apparently satisfied with their trip. They, however, give rather discouraging accounts of the future prospects of the mines, and express the opinion that thousands who go there will never realize sufficient to pay them for the hardships which must be unavoidably encountered on the trip, while many will be fortunate to secure enough to place them in easy circumstances, yet many more will never get enough to return home with, and not a few will lose everything they possessed before starting there. Such are the fortunes of the miners in all countries.

Indian Affairs on this Coast.—The Indian Appropriation bill passed by the Senate appropriates $7[illegible] to provide for removing the Indians of California to two reservations. On motion of Mr. Nesmith an appropriation of $[illegible] was passed for the negotiation of a treaty with the Nez Perces Indians of Oregon and Washington Territory for the relinquishment of a portion or all of their present reservation or its exchange for other lands. Mr Nesmith stated that there were at least 10,000 gold hunters now on this reservation.

Coming.—The Hon. T. Starr King has announced his intention to visit Portland and other places of importance in this upper coast on a lecturing tour. He may be expected here about the first of next month.

Confirmed.—W. H. Bennett has been confirmed United States Marshal for Oregon, by the U. S. Senate.

A General [illegible] Stars.—An eastern paper says of Professor, now General Mitchell of Ohio:

He seems to be one of the boldest and most enterprising officers we have [illegible] Besides being an astronomer [illegible] he is said to be a [illegible] and lately delivered an excellent discourse from the top of a rock, among the rugged mountains of East Tennessee.

Lieutenant Worden [illegible] of the Monitor would seem to be recovering from his wounds. He has been ordered to the command of the new iron-clad [illegible] on Saturday at Philadelphia. [illegible] was christened by the veteran Commodore Charles Stewart, who formerly commanded the old Ironsides.

Heroic Dead [illegible].—In digging the graves of the dead [illegible] of the Vermont Third Regiment who fell [illegible] Yorktown the remains of some of the heroes of the Revolution were found [illegible] The brass buttons that had been on their clothing were in good preservation.

[illegible]

LIFE'S BATTLE FIELD.

Each has his own out path in life
A circle his within his ken—
And small circle, too, perchance—
We cannot all be famous men!
And duties are not truly done
By panting vainly after fame
Or fretting for the want of fame
To quickly make a brilliant name

A brilliant name! Too oft is this
The phantom that leads many on
Until, too late, they wake and find
The time for real endeavor gone
Better to fill a lowly place
And labor there with soul and heart
Than dream ambitiously of wealth
Till time and youthful strength depart

Do I speak sadly? Truth it is
That in the lowest place of life
A man can act a hero's part,
Amid the daily toil and strife!
Aye, amid hourly din and care,
Even though within the humblest home,
Can shine in virtue great and grand
As ever gilded ancient Rome

Life's heroism does not need
A spacious or a lofty stage
Life's greatest deeds are not all writ
Upon some flaming golden page!
Believe me, glorious work is done,
As the world's wheels still onward go,
Which ten-tongued rumor never yet
Hath blazoned or will ever know

Self-conquest, self-devotion—these
Are highest gifts which give to all
Who own them that well tempered mind,
Prepared alike to win or fall—
Prepared, with fitting men, to meet
The happy good or bitter ill
Unshaken, whether fate the cup
With nectar or with gall may fill!

Each of these words, in loftier truth,
Is a sure talisman in life,
To guard and strengthen heart and brain
In time of hourly din and strife,
All stations they alike befit—
In peasant's cot or monarch's throne—
To every man a priceless gift
They bring, in self respect alone!

Newspaper Laws.

We call the attention of postmasters and subscribers to the laws in relation to the rights of publishers of newspapers, which do not seem to be understood. We will endeavor to make a plain synopsis of them:

1. A Postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning a paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper from the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the Postmaster responsible to the publisher for the payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the post office—whether directed to his name or to another—or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

3. If a person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether it is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made

4. If the subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office The law proceeds on the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facia evidence of intentional fraud

A VALUABLE REMEDY.—Every family should keep a small quantity of chlorate of potash We have never found anything equal to it for a simple ulcerated sore throat. Dissolve a small teaspoonful of it in a tumbler of cold water, and then occasionally take a teaspoonful of the solution, so as to gargle the throat It is nearly tasteless, and not at all offensive to take, and is hence well adapted to children. Nothing is better than this for chapped or cracked hands Wash them in the weak solution, and they soon will be well. It is also good for a rough, pimply, or chapped face. It may be had of any druggist

GOOD ADVICE.—Girls, let us tell you a stubborn truth. No young woman ever looked so well to a sensible man, as when dressed in plain neat, modest attire, without a single ornament about her person She looks then as though she possessed worth in herself, and needed no artificial rigging to enhance her value If a young woman would spend as much time in cultivating her mind, training her temper, and cherishing kindness, meekness, mercy and other good qualities, as most of them do in extra dress and ornaments, to increase her personal charms, she would, at a glance, be known among a thousand —her character would be read in her countenance, and there her beauty will be found

MARKET REPORT.

PORTLAND, June 19, 1862

Owing to the flood which brings the water into one half the business houses in this city, and the stoppage of transportation across the Cascade railroad on account of the exceedingly high water, trade is brought to almost a dead stand still. The operations in produce have been limited on account of being depressed by accumulation

Our latest advices from San Francisco indicate but slight change in that market Syrups have receded slightly, which causes a corresponding decrease in price here

By our quotations below it will be noticed that price of produce have receded This is not owing to any great surplus in market, but from the fact that the consumers cannot be reached till after the flood subsides somewhat

FAMILY
SEWING MACHINES'
ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction and easily kept in order; should make a tight lock stitch alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed

It should be able to use cotton thread or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin with rapidity and without changing the tension It should also be able to make the tension greater or less on both the under and upper threads and with uniformity, and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break

The needle should have a perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work

It should be able to do with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather, and should be always ready to work

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united

It should be able to make long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise

It should have a wheel feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order neither should it require a screw driver or wrench to set the needle

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress

It should not form a ridge on the under side or ravel

Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Self Abuse Nervous Debility Syphilis in all its stages Strictures Gleet Gravel Diabetes diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder Mercurial Rheumatism Scrofula Pains in the Bones and Ankles diseases of the Lungs, Throat Nose and Eyes Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs Cancers Dropsy Epileptic Fits St Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling Loss of Memory Loss of Power General Weakness Dimness of Vision with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes Loss of Sight Wakefulness Dyspepsia Liver Disease Eruptions upon the Face Pains in the Back and Head Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case recovery is certain and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure The medicines prescribed are pleasant without odor entirely vegetable causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health as they are the first cause of consumption scrofula and many other diseases and should be a terror to the human family A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution filling the system with mercury which with the disease hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily and the victim marries the disease is entailed upon the children who are born with feeble constitutions and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula tetter, ulcers eruptions and other affections of the skin eyes throat and lungs entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering and consigning them to an early grave

Self abuse is another formidable enemy to health for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands through the few years of suffering down to an untimely grave It destroys the nervous system rapidly wastes away the energies of life causes mental derangement prevents the proper development of the system disqualifies for marriage society business and all earthly happiness and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust vigorous health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by [illegible] the most remarkable cures — [illegible] will find directions [illegible] part of the State, or go [illegible] and Washington Territory [illegible] by communicating their symptoms by letter

All business strictly confidential Address DR L J CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co's Office, San Francisco

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief

[illegible]

Cal fornia [illegible]

[illegible] the frightful, exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared, and in fact in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand With this view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice being assured by my own experience, that under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

B F FITMORE

State of California, County of San Francisco:
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April A D 1856 Signed
[L S] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 1856.

DR L J CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more as I feel very well except that I have not yet got my strength yet but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute with my constitution, as I thought, ruined entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly but thought you might be able to do so much to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremulous over nothing Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and [illegible] from my skin and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions, which you said were [illegible] cause of my sickness I can hardly tell you which is the greatest my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge and think myself cheaply cured If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspaper. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude

CERTIFICATE—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves commendation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of [illegible] which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the [illegible] agement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician I was frequently while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician and by recommendation, called upon Dr L J Czapkay I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I [illegible] it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed
